

DiniTech GmbH is chosen as company of the month by SFG

Styria: The SFG "Steirische Wirtschaftsförderungsgesellschaft" nominates 3 regional companies every month, which provide exceptional economic services, for the voting as "Company of the Month". In April, among others, DiniTech GmbH, located in St. Stefan im Rosental, was nominated - a clear showcase company of the Southeast Styria region. The company had to assert itself against two strong competitors in the readers' poll but was ultimately able to win the title with 56% of the votes. The high result speaks for itself - DiniTech GmbH is on the right track towards the future, because innovation and sustainability are written in bold here. And this is also noticeable in the daily business of the regional employer.

The field of electric mobility is one of the most successful and future-proof industries. The up-and-coming team of DiniTech GmbH is active exactly there and internationally successful with their flagship product NRGkick - the safest mobile charging unit for e-cars on the market. It all started when CEO Dietmar Niederl was looking for a possibility to charge his electric car on the go at different power sources in 2012. Shortly thereafter, he founded DiniTech e. U., which, after initial successes, was transformed into DiniTech GmbH as early as 2015. It did not take long until more and more employees were added.

After reaching the limits of capacity in the old company building in the center of St. Stefan, a strong signal was set with the construction of the new company headquarters at DiniTech Street 1 - still in St. Stefan im Rosental. The competence center for electromobility consists of a multi-floor office building, a large production hall and a dedicated research and development area. An extension, which will triple the current production area and provide space for additional offices, is already being built.

Currently, more than 60 employees work at the site, divided between the areas of product manufacturing, research and development, marketing, sales and office, as well as quality management. With all these departments housed in one building, NRGkick is a thoroughly Austrian product. Due to this and the fact that most of the suppliers are from Austria or Germany, the product quality can be kept extremely high. The excellent work of the Styrian showcase company is evidenced by the numerous cooperations with well-known business partners, such as the Austrian Mobility Club ÖAMTC, the Porsche subsidiary "MOON", or the Austrian Highway operator Asfinag.

The company headquarters is designed for a total of more than 100 employees - and many of these vacancies are to be filled as soon as possible. The new location offers employees the latest equipment in the offices and production hall - ergonomic workstations and state-of-the-art technology are standard here. However, care has also been taken to create numerous opportunities for relaxation and stress management. Separate chill-out areas with space for sports activities, as well as top-equipped kitchens contribute to a healthy working environment. Regular company events offer a welcome break from routine and strengthen team spirit. In the course of the expansion, an extensive green area around the office and production buildings is also planned.

So it's no wonder that so many people support the title of "Company of the Month" being awarded to DiniTech GmbH.